THE BOND-AIDED ROADS

The President in his message urges the importance of a settlement of the obligations of the bond-aided railroads. He specifically directs attention to the case of the Union Pacific and points out that proceedings had been commenced to foreclose a first mortgage upon the main line. As the Government lien is subordinate to the first mortgage, it would be obliged to redeem that mortgage or lose all that it has paid out for the company. As the road will be in default to the Government on January 1, 1897, the message indicates that unless Congress shall otherwise direct, or shall have previously determined upon a different solution of the problem, the Executive will take such action as will promise to subserve the public interests and save the Government from the loss threatened by further inaction.

That is a strong incentive to the subsidized roads to get the Funding bill through Congress before the holidays. Failing to do so or to pass an act extending the time of payment, the President will take a hand in the matter and doubtless the Attorney General of the United States will commence foreclosure proceedings immediately after the holidays.

It will now be in order to watch Mr. Reed's end of Congress. The Funding bill has been before the House since early in the last session. For political reasons it was not deemed advisable to act upon it before the Presidential election, as Speaker Reed thought up to about the time the Republican National Convention met that he was a candidate for President. Now his mind is wholly disabused of that idea and it remains to be seen what effect it will have upon the Funding bill. It is hardly possible that so important a measure will be put through the House under the gag rules in a few days and if it should be it could not get through the Senate before the holidays, and besides there is not a Republican majority in that body as there is in the House. It is not unreasonable to assume that no member from the Pacific Coast will vote for the bill if he has future political aspirations, except it be Representative Grove Johnson of California and his connection with the measure at the last session of Congress defeated him for re-election by over five times the majority the average McKinley elector received in California. The man who votes for the Funding bill unless he is entrenched behind an overwhelming Republican majority, cannot be expected to be re-elected to Congress. Grove Johnson's fate awaits the advocates of the bill unless the railroad companies make concessions to the people.

THE APPROPRIATIONS.

The Secretary of the Treasury has transmitted to the Speaker of the House an estimate of the appropriations required for the next fiscal year, that is from July 1, 1897, to June 30, 1898. They are for the Legislative establishment, $4,379,830; executive establishment, $10,865,952; judicial, $907,120; foreign intercourse, $2,082,728; military, $24,292,636; naval, $52,494,773; Indian affairs, $7,279,526; pensions, $141,328,580; public works, $31,437,061; postal service, $1,288,334; miscellaneous, $36,844,216; permanent annual appropriations, $120,078,220. Total, $421,718,920.

The appropriations for the current fiscal year amounted to $132,421,605.

The appropriations asked for public works include public buildings at Boise City, Idaho, and at Cheyenne, Wyoming, a mint at Denver, Colorado, a court-house at Portland, Oregon, and the improvement of the Yellowstone Park.

In addition to the above, $17,500,000 will be required for the improvement of rivers and harbors under the acts of 1892 and 1896, for which contracts have not yet been let.

The Secretary asks for no appropriation for a public building at Reno, but Congressman Newlands will, no doubt, appear before the Committee on Appropriations and attend to that matter, as Speaker Reed is not disposed to be as niggardly with the interior States as he was at the last session of Congress. We get nothing for rivers and harbors and we should have a Government building in every town of importance in the State.

The Director of the Mint recommends that the Secretary of the Treasury be authorized to make experiments to determine the best means of preventing the counterfeiting of silver coins. At the present price of silver bullion counterfeit silver coins as good as those stamped at the mints can be made at about 100 per cent profit. These coins cannot be distinguished from the genuine silver coins, as they are of the same weight and fineness.

GOVERNOR BUDD of California has granted a reprieve of S. D. Worden, convicted of wrecking a train near Sacramento during the railroad strike of 1894. Worden's execution has been postponed from the 18th instant to June 4, 1897.

ALL that is necessary to see prosperity in large doses and airships in large flocks is to have confidence. Confidence will clear the horizon so as to bring both into plain view of the ordinary intellect.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

What Was Done in the Senate and House Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, December 8.—The Senate settled down to business to-day. When a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury was read answering the Senate inquiry as to the number of aliens in the Department of the Treasury, Gallinger of New Hampshire remarked that he was glad to observe that foreigners whose services had been conspicuous in the department had seen fit as a result of the inquiry to take out naturalization papers.

Many petitions were presented from manufacturing bodies urging the passage of the Dingley bill.

Callom gave notice that on Thursday next he would address the Senate on the Cuban question.

The House resolutions relative to the death of ex-Speaker Crisp were laid before the Senate. As a mark of respect, the Senate at 12:15 adjourned.

The attendance of members was very large in the House to-day, but the galleries were almost deserted. After the journal had been read there was a hurried consultation among Dingley and other Republican leaders, as a result of which it was decided to proceed with the regular order of the call of committees.

Loud, from the Committee on Post-offices and Post Roads, called up a bill to authorize the use of private mailing cards of the same weight and form as the postal card, when a one-cent stamp is affixed. The bill, he said, had been approved by the Postoffice Department, as it would tend to popularize postal cards, besides affecting a saving to the Government of the difference between the cost of the cards and the stamps. This scheme has been successfully put in operation in England, where, in six months, the number of cards mailed increased from 248,000,000 to 334,000,000.

The bill was passed. It takes effect on July 1, 1897. Loud also called up the bill to provide for a limited indemnity for the loss of registered mail matter. It provides that the indemnity is not to exceed $10 for any one registered letter, but not to exceed the actual value of the letter. There was criticism on the bill that it trespassed on the rights of express companies, but it passed by 76 to 13.

Loud then called up the Sperry bill to authorize the collection and delivery of mail in towns and villages where no letter carrier service exists, by the employment of any person to perform the service at a cost not exceeding one cent for each letter or package. The bill passed by 101 to 13.

The Six Days' Bicycle Race.

NEW YORK, December 8.—At the opening of the second 24 hours of the six day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden only 16 of the original 27 entries remained. Hale, the Irishman who broke the record, was fresh and hopeful of success this morning. Experts say, however, that he will not last the six days. Redding, the Nebraska man who broke all the records yesterday for continuous riding, was within a score of miles of the Irish champion at 9 o'clock, but gave evidence of breaking up. It would surprise nobody to see "Mayor" Taylor, colored, secure the first money. Schock, the winner of the last six day contest, disappointed his friends. His record will doubtless be beaten by 200 miles. The score at 10 A. M. was: Hale 548, Redding 526, Moore 524, Taylor 543, Schock 517, Ashinger 399, Rio 522, Pierce 505, Forester 518, Ellis 516, Smith 465, Maddox 437, Gannon 426, Cassidy 423, McLeod 355, Glick 449.

A Forger Sentenced.

NEW YORK, December 8.—Wm E. Valentine pleaded guilty to forgery in the second degree and to abduction, in the Kings county court to-day and was sentenced to ten years imprisonment. Valentine was at the head of a gang of forgers and swindlers whose operations extended all over the United States and Canada, and involved, it has been stated, as much as $2,000,000.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Wheat sells at $1.50 cash in San Francisco and $1.58 for May delivery. The Spaniards announce the defeat of two large bodies of Cubans in the province of Havana.

The Court of Appeals of Kentucky has denied Scott Jackson, convicted of the murder of Pearl Bryan, a new trial. Congressman Dingley says he has no hope that his bill will pass this session of Congress, but he thinks good may result from the agitation.

Abraham Eckert, under sentence of death at Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania, took poison in his cell yesterday. He was to have been hanged at 1 o'clock.

Downe, convicted of murder at Denver, Colorado, upon his own confession, has applied for a new trial upon the ground that his confession was false.

The Oklahoma outlaw killed by Deputy Sheriffs and said to be Black Craig has been identified as Dynamite Dick. There was a reward of $4,000 for Dick dead or alive.

Alderman F. C. Virving of Chicago has been arrested for the embezzlement of $4,000 from a Sacramento firm. Virving is said to be administrator of several California estates.

There is great disappointment in the City of Mexico at Cleveland's failure to recognize the Cubans as belligerents. The Mexicans deeply sympathize with the Cuban insurgents.

A mob of sixty men rode through Mercer county, Kentucky, and chopped down every toll gate they could find. The gate keepers were warned not to repair the gates under penalty of being shot. At Salt River, one mile from Harrodsburg, Dave Barnett, a gate keeper, was made to chop down his own gate.

William Valentine, who was at the head of a gang of forgers and swindlers in King's county, New York, pleaded guilty to forgery in the second degree and was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary. Valentine's forgeries are said to involve $2,000,000.

The silver Republicans declined to attend the Republican Senatorial caucus yesterday, though they had been invited. Senator Dabois sent in his resignation as caucus Secretary, and also as a member of the Senatorial Steering and Advisory Committee.

Powers of Vermont, Chairman of the House Pacific Railroads Committee, approves what the President says in his message relating to the bond-aided roads. He will call up the bill agreed upon by the committee at the last session, and will ask the Committee on Rules to give it a few days consideration. He thinks it will pass.

The London Pall Mall Gazette says there is nothing in Cleveland's message unsatisfactory to Great Britain, so far as Cuba is concerned. The Globe sees in the message Monroism thrusting itself forward in the usual American fashion and doubts if McKinley will thank Cleveland for bequeathing him the task of bullying Spain.

An attempt was made Monday night to wreck a passenger train on the Iowa Central road near Latimer. Iron rails were laid across the track at a curve. A freight engine ahead of the passenger train struck the obstruction and signaled the passenger train, which was a short distance behind the freight. The object of the would-be wreckers was undoubtedly robbery.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a congested condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physician, but if in need of laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

WATER WORKS.

How the City of Ogden Provided for Them in its Charter.

The city of Ogden, Utah, is one of the most progressive in the West. In its charter it provides for the ownership of water works and the issuance of bonds for the same as follows:

"That the city council shall have the right and authority to borrow not exceeding _____ dollars of money as a direct loan to the city, or to issue bonds of the city, payable within _____ years, at such time and place, and bearing such rate of interest, not exceeding _____ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually or yearly, as it may deem expedient, and may also provide that such bonds or indebtedness shall not be liable to taxation by the city; provided, that the money borrowed or the proceeds of such bonds, shall be expended for the erection of water works for the city, within or without the corporation, after due notice given in the manner provided by law for notice of general election in said city, which notice shall state the objects and the amount of the proposed loan or issue of bonds, the rate of interest and the time and place of payment of the debt or bonds; and the electors shall vote 'yes' or 'no' on each proposition. If a two-thirds majority of the votes of the property taxpayers cast are in the affirmative the city council may proceed to borrow the money or issue the proposed bonds in such denominations or sums as they prefer, and to sell the same. But said bonds shall not be sold for less than their par value, nor shall they, or any debt created pursuant to the provisions of this act, bear a greater rate of interest than seven per cent per annum, payable annually or semi-annually."

A provision of that character in the proposed act to incorporate Reno would leave the question of acquiring and operating municipal water works wholly at the discretion of the voters.

STOCK SALES AND SHIPMENTS.

Transactions in Cattle and Sheep

During the last week nearly 7,000 head of beef and stock cattle have been sold in Smoky and Monitor valleys.

P. Walsh bought from George Ernst, 63 head, Anderson, Stubar, Humphreys, McCann and Powers, 90; Moore, Tate and Chrysler, 80.

John Sibbald bought from A. Lognoz, 620 head; A. B. Millett, 60 head.

The Walsh cattle were shipped from Ledlie over the N. C. R. R. and the Sibbald cattle are being driven to Lovelock, the herd passing Big Creek yesterday.

The price ranged from $12 per head for stock cattle to $21 per head for beef.

The whole sum paid to the cattlemen was about $12,000. Thus the range is relieved of 1,000 head of cattle and the stockmen are $12,000 richer.—Reville.

E. P. Sessions of Fort Bidwell, who recently drove 400 head of beef cattle to Amodeo, has sold the entire band. Our informant says he realized $35 per head for steers and $22 50 for cows. This is the best sale reported this season.—Mercur Pamphlet.

Three large shipments of cattle will be made from Lion Point this week.

J. S. Wheeler, buyer for Foley, Hilborn & Co., will ship 25 carloads to Lovelock, where they will be loaded, and on the 9th he will ship 18 carloads to San Francisco.

On the 12th Horn & Judge will ship twelve carloads of cattle to their San Francisco slaughter house.

Joseph Hill arrived from Lovelock Sunday and on Monday he purchased 2,000 head of sheep from F. N. Silve, who has had the band quartered across the river for several days.—Silver State.

The Coming Attraction.

The Schubert Symphony Club has been having large and appreciative audiences in California for the past week. The clever songs and the wonderful musical talent of 8-year-old Tommy Farrell takes everyone by storm and his performances are the greatest attraction of the company.

The lady quartette is said to be very fine, Miss Delaney, the soprano, having a voice of remarkable register and purity. The humorous selections of Mr. Louis McKee are droll and laughable. The instrumental numbers and orchestra selections are up to the standard.

Judging from its success in other cities the Schubert Symphony Club will have a full house to-morrow evening at the Opera House.

Meeting of School Trustees.

The School Trustees of Reno School District No. 10 met yesterday afternoon to consider the matter of filling the vacancy caused by the death of E. A. Schulze. A number of applications were presented and after due deliberation Fred Waltz was chosen.

Mr. Waltz is an ambitious and worthy young man and will doubtless give the best of satisfaction. He is a graduate of the State University and fully competent for the position. He will enter upon his duties immediately.

The School Board adopted appropriate resolutions of respect regarding the death of E. A. Schulze, an engraved copy of which will be forwarded to the wife and mother of deceased.

Justice's Court.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

RESTORED CONFIDENCE.

It Is Not Having Exactly the Desired Effect.

EDITOR JOURNAL: The GAZETTE's wave of prosperity is still sweeping onward. Confidence has been restored. The boom in failures still continues, and everything goes to indicate that the celebrated "wave of prosperity" will give the people all the prosperity they want. The following from R. G. Dan's report for the week ending December 4, 1896, will undoubtedly inspire the GAZETTE with renewed confidence:

"Defaulted liabilities in eleven months have been $198,738,459, against $148,544,202 last year. * * * Failures for the week have been 379 in the United States, against 324 last year."

Bradstreet for the same date says: "The situation in iron and steel is less satisfactory, with unsettling rumors as to the success of the steel pool. Comparatively few sales of staple grades, and no likelihood of a revival in demand before February. * * * A large number of the increased failures is reported from the Middle and New England States."

The recent failures among the Populists will inspire the sound money advocates with more confidence. The placing of the Arena Publishing Company in the hands of a receiver is a warning to all printing houses that oppose the gold standard. The seizure of Marion Butler's paper by the Sheriff and the sale of Mrs. Leese's home under foreclosure will most undoubtedly strengthen our credit abroad, and make American securities in better demand at the bondholding centers.

The wave of prosperity is sweeping onward with irresistible force. The inflation of confidence now going on in the United States is the wonder and admiration of the civilized world. It is becoming contagious, and is spreading over Europe. The woolen mills in England are being run to their full capacity, and the wholesale importers of the United States are crowding their warehouses with European goods. Let the confidence boom continue. It is a glorious object lesson. FARMER.

USES OF DEAD HORSES.

They Are Utilized for Many Purposes.

The leg bones are very hard and white, and are used for handles of pocket and table cutlery.

The tail and mane are especially valuable; and from these are made the haircloth of commerce.

The ribs and head are burned to make boneblack after they have been treated for the glue that is in them.

The phosphate of lime, acted upon by sulphuric acid and calcined with carbon, produces phosphorus for lucifer matches.

The short hair taken from the hide is used to stuff cushions and horse collars; thus the dead are made to minister to the comfort of the living.

The hide furnishes a waterproof leather known to the trade as cordovan, and is used in the manufacture of high-class hunting and wading boots.

There is an animal oil yielded in the cooking process that is a deadly poison, and enters into the composition of many insecticides and vermifuges.

In the calcining of horses' bones the vapors arising are condensed, and form the chief source of carbonate of ammonia, which constitutes the base of nearly all ammoniacal salts.

The hoofs of the animals are removed, and after being boiled to extract the oil from them, the horny substance is shipped to the manufacturers of combs and what are known as mikado goods.

The bones to make glue are dissolved in muriatic acid, which takes the phosphate of lime away; the soft element retaining the shape of the bone is dissolved in boiling water, cast into squares and dried on nets.

Salt This Down.

Salt in whitewash makes it stick.

Salt will put out a fire in the chimney.

Salt thrown on a low coal fire will revive it.

Salt used in sweeping carpets will keep out moths.

Salt and vinegar will remove stains from discolored tea-cups.

Salt thrown on soot fallen on the carpet will prevent a stain.

Salt and soda are excellent to apply to bee stings and spider bites.

Salt put on freshly spilled ink on carpets or rugs will assist in removing the stain.

Salt in the oven under baking tins will prevent their contents scorching on the bottom.

HOT WATER.

Its Medical Virtues Are But Little Known.

Hot water has far more medicinal virtues than many believe or know. Because it is so easily procured thousands think it valueless. The uses of hot water are, however, many. Foreexample, there is nothing that so promptly cuts short congestion of the lungs, sore throat or rheumatism as hot water when applied promptly and thoroughly. Headache almost always yields to the simultaneous application of hot water to the feet and back of the neck. A towel folded and dipped in hot water and quickly wrung out and applied over the painful part in toothache or neuralgia will generally afford prompt relief. A strip of flannel or napkin folded lengthwise and dipped in hot water and wrung out and then applied around the neck of a child that has the crup will sometimes bring relief in ten minutes. Hot water taken freely half an hour before bedtime is helpful in the case of constipation, while it has a soothing effect upon the stomach and bowels. A goblet of hot water taken just after rising before breakfast has cured thousands of indigestion, and no simple remedy is more widely recommended by physicians to dyspeptics. Very hot water will stop dangerous bleeding.—New York Ledger.

A PECULIAR BUSINESS.

Breeding and Catching Leeches For the New York Market.

James Partit and his children earn all the money they make raising leeches, for the work of breeding the blood-suckers on the Partit farm on Topis river, near Lucy, N. J., is nothing compared with the labor of catching them. The wary leech will take hold of nothing but human flesh, so the members of the Partit family, big and little, plunge their legs into the swamp and draw them up presently with the prey attached.

Farmer Partit doesn't seem to think a little blood letting hurts one.

"They are as good as a dose of spring physic," says he. "Why, me and the boys get so fat and healthy doing nothing but water that we need something like this to keep us in order. If we fished too long at a time, they might do some harm, but we know when to stop. After the season is over we feel fresher and better than if we hadn't been leeching. They are just like mosquitoes—they suck out all the bad blood and leave the good, and that's why, I suppose, we feel so good after a month's work in the swamp. I think we'd all have malaria down in this wet place if it wasn't for the leeches. No man could wade through such a mudhole without getting malaria unless something helped him."

His farm yields 500,000 leeches a year, and the price is 20 or 30 cents for 100, giving an annual income of $1,000 to the family. The market is New York or Philadelphia, where the leeches are distributed to the trade.

Half a century ago this would have been a great business, but the belief in leeches has fallen off in this country. Europe clings to the practice, and Paris consumes 3,000,000 leeches yearly, while London finds use for over 7,000,000 a year.

James Partit or his boys, when wading, discovered the presence of the leeches in his swamps. He looked up the subject and decided that he would supply the American market, which hitherto had depended on Europe. He found that buyers preferred the Hungarian fellow of olive green without spots, or else the German leech, with dark green body spotted below with black. He got a few specimens and put them in the pond. They multiplied rapidly after their enemies, the water snakes, were exterminated, and soon the first leech pond in the country was established. The young are ready for market in about a year, but reproduction takes three years. The average life of a leech is 15 or 20 years. Usually a healthy man can fish in the swamp four or five hours without losing enough blood to exhaust him. The leech has three jaws and from 20 to 30 teeth. When these get going, in a short time the leech will swallow five times his weight in blood.

All this is more pleasant than the practice elsewhere about New York of fattening leeches for the market on decort old horses which have been condemned to the boneyard.—New York Press.

Diphtheria Cure.

The testimony of a prominent physician:

FOUNTAIN CITY, Ind., June 17, 1895.

This certifies that I have been using V. O. in my practice. I have never found any medical preparation in 46 years of practice that is calculated to do so much good in so wide a range of diseases and leave no after bad effects.

In Diphtheria it has proved a perfect specific in my hands, and I had rather depend on it alone in that dreadful disease than the whole popular Materia Medica with that lot out.

An Imitative Monkey.
One of the drollest instances of the monkey's keenness of observation and power of mimicry that we have met with is the following: A retired admiral and his wife living at Cheltenham had a favorite monkey. One day the lady, hearing a strange noise in the dining room, looked in to see what it was. The sight which met her eyes was a ludicrous one. Seated in the armchair, with the admiral's smoking cap on his head and the admiral's spectacles on his nose, was the monkey, and in his hand was the open newspaper, which he shook and patted, while he jabbered and gesticulated with great emphasis at the cat, which lay blinking on the hearth rug. It was a clever and carefully studied imitation of the testy old admiral's tone and manner when reading to his wife some passage from the newspaper which excited his wrath or indignation.

It is strange that so little attempt is made to utilize this strong imitative faculty in monkeys. They might easily be trained to perform as athletes and acrobats. Some 500 years ago an Italian count, who had a villa on the shore of Lake Albano, kept a monkey which he had taught both to row and sail a small skiff. The monkey used to navigate this tiny craft with great skill, but unfortunately one day, when climbing the mast, he capsize the boat and was drowned. As jockeys, monkeys might surely be made useful and would fulfil every purpose for which the manikin who ride on race horses are artificially stunted and sweated.—Chambers' Journal

Lighthouse Lights.
In a series of papers contributed to Engineering by Du Riche Preller on lighthouses in Europe the remarkable statement is made that the luminous range of a light of 500,000 candle power in the Mediterranean (44 miles) is equal to that of 5,000,000 candles in the channel—equal to a ratio of one to ten—hence, it is added, that with the exception of the electric flashing light of Plumier, near Marseille, of 600,000
candle power, the most powerful mineral oil light recently installed on the French, Corsican, Algerian and Tunisian coasts of the Mediterranean do not exceed 35,000 candle power, having a luminous range of about 30 miles in average weather. On the other hand, in the channel and in the bay of Biscay
the largest mineral oil lights have immense powers up to about 200,000, and the electric lighting flash lights up to 32,500,000 and 37,500,000 candles.
Further, the maximum light of French lighthouse towers—that is, the height of the focus above ground—varies from about 50 to 70 meters, but some towers are, of course, on very elevated positions, so that, taking the height of the focus above the sea level, the highest light, that of Cape Breton, is 701 feet above the high water sea level, while its luminous power is 6,000 candles and its luminous range 25 miles. This light is an oil light, and the geographical range, or direct visibility of such lights on high elevations, is usually in excess of their luminous range, the reverse of this, however, being commonly the case with electric coast lights.

Machinery Lubrication.
The results of some valuable experiments on the lubrication of machinery
bearings have been set forth by Mr.
Devrance in an address before the Civil Engineers' institute, London. His observations show that olive oil becomes black and thick after passing through the bearings several times. This oil, after filtration, was composed of 16 per cent of oleate of lead, 0.57 per cent of oleate of acid and 74.63 per cent of olive oil and glycerin, the oleate acid in the olive oil appearing to attack lead, zinc and copper with great viru-lency. Thus disks of metals used in the manufacture of bearings were immersed in oleate acid, occasionally drawn up out of the acid so as to be exposed to the air. Lead and zinc rapidly corroded away, copper was corroded to a less extent, while tin and antimony were not appreciably affected. In regard to the compressibility of alloys, it is suggested by this authority that no alloy be used until it is satisfactorily demonstrated that its point of first yield is considerably above the greatest load or shock to which it will be subjected in use. In testing the effect upon soft metal bearings when the shaft sustained a heavy pressure a piece of iron was found to leave no mark upon a surface softer than itself.

Home's Great Fire.
In A. D. 64, 10 of the 14 municipal districts of Rome were destroyed by a conflagration instigated, it is said, by the Emperor Nero. The number of lives lost is known to amount up into the hundreds, but the value of the property destroyed cannot even be estimated. By the emperor's command, thousands of Romans rendered homeless and destitute were employed in removing the debris and rebuilding the burned city.
Nero, to divert the odium of the crime in himself, charged it upon the Christians, and thus began one of the greatest persecutions in the history of mankind.—Christian Church.

Superstitious About Thirteen.
Augustin Daly, of whose company Mr. James Lewis was a member for over 25 years, said of him: "It is a coincidence that he was buried on Sept. 13, for he always had the strongest fear of the number 13 and of Friday. I don't know that he was a superstitious man in other respects, though, no doubt, he would object to humming the Macbeth music in the theater, but he had great fears on that point. He never wanted to begin anything on the 13th of the month or on Friday. If I had a new part to give him it would be natural for me to deliver it to him on either of those days he would ask me not to let him have it until the next day or to give it to him on the day before. I don't know that he had ever suffered any misfortune on either of those days to confirm him in his fears."

"My own experience has been quite the reverse of unlucky with regard to them. Some of my most successful seasons have been begun on Friday, and he made one of his own greatest successes in a part which he played for the first time on the 13th of the month. It was Sept. 13, too, the date of his burial, and it was the beginning of Miss Clara Morris under my engagement, when he played Sir Patrick Spence in "Man and Wife." The fear of No. 13 extended further than this. Mr. Lewis would never sleep in room 13 at a hotel. He would rather walk the floor of some other room all night without a bed. And he would never accept section No. 13 in a sleeping car. That or stateroom No. 13 on a steamer was in his mind a positive invitation to disaster. The person on whom the duty devolved of arranging the details of Mr. Daly's tours had to remember that and look out for it."—Troy Times.

He Asked Too Much.
The waiter accidentally jugged the elbow of the man eating breakfast in the restaurant.

The morsel that he was about to consume fell to the floor.

The next moment he gave a startled cry and turned deathly pale.

All was confusion.

The proprietor and the occupants of the other tables jumped up and rushed to his assistance.

His face had assumed a bluish hue, which was quickly followed by a greenish color and then by a purplish tinge.

The case looked serious, for he was evidently apoplectic.

Finally, to the relief of all, he was reanimated.

All demanded an explanation.

"I am subject to heart disease," he at length exclaimed, "and any severe shock is likely to kill me. It's a wonder I'm alive to tell the tale."

"What tales?" they asked eagerly.

"Heavens, gentlemen!" he replied, as his cheeks blanched at the recollection, "you'll hardly believe me, but I swear on my oath that when the waiter knocked that piece of bread and butter out of my hand it fell to the floor with the butter side up."

The others surveyed him pityingly.

"Something has affected his brain," they whispered one to the other. "Such a thing is unheard of. It could never have happened."

One by one they drew away and left him alone.—New York World.

Gained His Point.
In the days when her majesty went down to Windsor by road she liked to be driven at a rapid pace—a little too fast to please her escort, especially the officers who rode their own horses. A gallant captain, afterward a renowned M. P., was one day in command and riding at the head of his troop. Just in front of him, with his back to the horses of the carriage, sat the Prince of Wales, then a small child. The captain, directly the party started, lifted his hand and shook his fist in the little prince's face. The prince roared with fright, and his royal mother, quite ignorant of the cause, took him on her lap to pacify him. When the prince was quiet and resumed his seat, the captain again shook his fist, and this was repeated all the way down to Windsor. At the end of the journey the queen learned exactly what had occurred and issued her command that the officer should never command her escort again. This was just what the captain hoped would happen.—St. James Gazette.
